Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is Samarth and I'm a full-stack web developer. As a computer science enthusiast and all-around tech-head, I was elated to see your new opening for the entry-level full-stack web developer position. I'm highly interested in this opportunity because I'd make a great fit for your organization.

I realize you are looking for a candidate with strong knowledge of web application architecture, as well as experience with data structures and agile web development methodologies. During my studies at AttainU, I have been able to gain exposure to multiple technologies and platforms and have delivered working applications utilizing HTML, CSS and JavaScript frameworks and libraries.

One of my favourite ways to learn is to teach. I find teaching others gratifying and I know that in order to teach we just have to be one chapter ahead. As a Teaching Assistant at AttainU, I was responsible for planning and executing live coding challenge review sessions for junior batch AttainU students. While pursuing my education, I have been recognized for my outstanding ability to work as part of a team. It is, for this reason, I have participated with enthusiasm in multiple team-oriented projects and have consistently finished assignments as per requirements and always within the allotted time provided.

With the combination of my web development experience and knowledge of multiple web technologies, I'm confident I'd make a great fit for this position. Thank you for taking the time to review my application and I would enjoy an opportunity to talk about your upcoming projects and plans. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Samarth Keskar
